

Curtis Johnson and Onome Okpewho represent Literacy New Jersey in successful non-profit merger

08.01.2014

Related People:

Curtis A. Johnson

Onome N. Adejemiua

Curtis Johnson and Onome Okpewho successfully represented pro bono client Literacy New Jersey in a matter involving a merger with another non-profit organization. The program director praised their “thorough and efficient” work, noting that Literacy New Jersey “will now be able to continue our mission of providing adult literacy programs within the West Hudson with a stronger organization behind us to provide leadership and support.”