Former U.S. Bankruptcy Judge Donald Steckroth has been formally tapped to serve as the examiner in the Chapter 11 case of Zucker Goldberg & Ackerman LLC and investigate possible claims against current and former members of the foreclosure law firm and related “insiders,” according to an order Monday.

“The Committee is very pleased with his appointment and looks forward to working closely with him in connection with the authorized investigation,” said an attorney for the creditors, David J. Adler of McCarter & English LLP, on Tuesday.

The unsecured creditors committee is represented by David J. Adler of McCarter & English LLP.
