Sherilyn Pastor has taken the helm as the ninth president of the American College of Coverage Counsel (ACCC), the preeminent membership group of insurance attorneys in the U.S. and Canada. Pastor chairs the Insurance Recovery, Litigation & Counseling Group at McCarter & English, representing corporate policyholders.

Pastor said that although the pandemic has presented many dark sides, it also offers a chance to reflect on what we value and to build on that value. During her presidency, Pastor says she looks forward to expanding the ACCC's complimentary education programs for judges, arbitrators and mediators; increasing diversity among the membership; and, adjusting the ACCC's offerings to adapt to the new realities of the pandemic.
