

Should Employers Provide Pandemic-Related Leave Though FFCRA Tax Credit Has Expired?

Related People:
Hugh F. Murray, III

Society for Human Resource Management

12.03.2021

McCarter partner Hugh Murray comments to Society for Human Resource Management regarding the end of the Families First Coronavirus Response Act federal tax credit and how the COVID-19 pandemic may cause employers to rethink the policies that more generally apply to employee illness.