

Transportation Investment Community Luncheon

03.05.2020

Related People:

Ronald M. Leibman

Ron Leibman spoke to investment executives at Cowen & Company about the current and potential future state of the logistics and transportation industry from the standpoint of technology and digital and autonomous service providers, investment opportunities and business consolidation, insurance trends, modal capacity, development of industry executives and education, and employment issues centering on employee misclassification.