

White House Announces New Steps to Tackle US Supply Chain Crisis

Forbes

10.14.2021

Related People:

Ronald M. Leibman

McCarter partner and head of our Transportation, Logistics & Supply Chain Management practice, Ron Leibman, comments to Forbes regarding the public/private partnership that was able to secure 24/7 port services in the Ports of Los Angeles and Long Beach, CA, and how that partnership is a tangible first step toward easing congestion, though there is still the need to address the systemic volumetric and infrastructure issues underlying the current crisis.