

Women Have Always Been Powerful

Propelify Innovation Festival 2020

10.05.2020

Maria Laccotripe Zacharakis, PhD draws on her leadership experience and career success during her “fireside chat” with Lindsay Kaplan, Co-Founder of Chief, a networking organization created to drive women forward into positions of power and keep them there. They discuss the work that needs to be done so that women are represented on boards and in other important decision-making roles; Chief’s rapid expansion while shifting to a virtual community and its success building connections in the COVID-19 environment; challenges of being a working mom; and much more.
